

Project Manager

MartiDeveraux

Over the last 10 years, I have prided myself on building a tremendous amount of success in all aspects of project management, from complete new construction builds on commercial properties to detailed budget analyses, financial reviews, and overseeing countless teams on thousands of projects all across the country. I have developed great relationships with vendors, clients and co-workers. My peers rely on me to make quick, intelligent decisions that bring my projects in on-time and under-budget.

I am looking for an opportunity to grow & make a difference in an environment where a hard-working, self-motivated mentality is rewarded.

Let's get shit done!
